COMPUTER IMAGE ANALYSIS IN PATHOLOGY

G. Zajicek, Computer Unit, The Hebrew University-Hadassah Medical School, Jerusalem, (Israel)

This paper is concerned with an application of computers to an examination of pathological specimens. The preparation of rat liver specimens and their study are described in detail. The resulting pictures are then analysed and computer programs devised to deal with these.